

http://hihowaya.blogs.com/weblog/entertainment_/index.html

12/30/2004

It's one of those Sundays!

If you've never "Sunday-ed" with us before, and you're a music fan, this is something you want to be part of. The early evening 5:30 time slot is a casual niche that captures an appreciative audience that performers seem to feed from. Have an adult beverage, a bite to eat, enjoy the show and still be home at a grown up hour.

This Sunday Sunset Series starts up the post football season February 27th with something very exciting from Up Bar newcomers, The Tony Gallo Project.

This balladeer just pulsates with the attitude and finesse all polished crooners are expected to carry vocally. Along with a group of multifaceted musicians compliment the panache of the project. This effort brings one back to that Bourbon Street feel after midnight., very smooth with a clean delivery.